INTRODUCTION

Daily Expense Tracker System is designed to keep a track of the Income-Expense of a Housewife on a day-to-day basis. This System divides the Income-based on daily expenses. If you exceed the day's expense, the system will cut it from your income and will provide a new daily expense allowed amount. If that day's expense is less, the system will add it in savings. The daily expense tracking System will generate a report at the end of the month to show Income-Expense Curve. It will let you add the savings amount, which you had saved for some particular Festivals or days like Birthday or Anniversary. ## 1. Introduction

University Management System is a clever, versatile, and cost-effective solution for universities, colleges, and schools. It's a whole end-to-end system that takes care of every detail of a university workflow, which is exactly what we needed.

The University Management System (UMS) is a cloud-based university management system that addresses all elements of colleges, universities, and schools. It offers an easy-to-use interface for managing university workflow and integrating all university procedures.

2. Project Modules

University Management System Project Modules:

University Information Management: This module will help the university admin in handling the records and services offered by the school. It will secure and generate reports for transaction purposes.

Courses and Subject Management: As the main goal of every school is to provide a quality education, this module would ease the activity of handling courses and subjects. The system will help the admin assign the subjects per course and then bracket its schedules.

Student Information Management: The student information management cost a lot of time and effort to do. While this module will do the management, the admin would just feed the information to the system.

Faculty and Student Attendance Monitoring: This module might require a device to monitor the attendance of each of their students and faculty. This will help them handle the performance of their student as well as their faculty members.

Grading System Management: The work of this modules is to help the admin convey learning progress and performance of their students in a clear, accurate, consistent, and fair manner.

Payment and Financial Monitoring: This module will give them hold of all the payment transaction of their students or their parents. It will also help the admin with securing their financial statements for the university needs and purposes.

Supply Management: Supply Management module helps the school admin with the management of every supply inside the university.

1. Introduction

University Management System is a clever, versatile, and cost-effective solution for universities, colleges, and schools. It's a whole end-to-end system that takes care of every detail of a university workflow, which is exactly what we needed.

The University Management System (UMS) is a cloud-based university management system that addresses all elements of colleges, universities, and schools. It offers an easy-to-use interface for managing university workflow and integrating all university procedures.

2. Project Modules

University Management System Project Modules:

University Information Management: This module will help the university admin in handling the records and services offered by the school. It will secure and generate reports for transaction purposes.

Courses and Subject Management: As the main goal of every school is to provide a quality education, this module would ease the activity of handling courses and subjects. The system will help the admin assign the subjects per course and then bracket its schedules.

Student Information Management: The student information management cost a lot of time and effort to do. While this module will do the management, the admin would just feed the information to the system.

Faculty and Student Attendance Monitoring: This module might require a device to monitor the attendance of each of their students and faculty. This will help them handle the performance of their student as well as their faculty members.

Grading System Management: The work of this modules is to help the admin convey learning progress and performance of their students in a clear, accurate, consistent, and fair manner.

Payment and Financial Monitoring: This module will give them hold of all the payment transaction of their students or their parents. It will also help the admin with securing their financial statements for the university needs and purposes.

Supply Management: Supply Management module helps the school admin with the management of every supply inside the university.

INTRODUCTION

Budget is essential in every walk of our life – national, domestic and Business. A budget is prepared to have effective utilization of funds and for the realization of objective as efficiently as possible. Budgeting is a powerful tool to the management for performing its functions i.e., formulation plans, coordination activities and controlling operations etc., efficiently. For efficient and effective management planning and control are two highly essential functions. Budget and budgetary control provide a set of basic techniques for planning and control.

A budget fixes a target in terms of rupees or quantities against which the actual performance is measured. A budget is closely related to both the management function as well as the accounting function of an organization. As the size of the organization increases, the need for budgeting is correspondingly more because a budget is an effective tool of planning and control. Budget is helpful in coordinating the various activities (such as production, sales, purchase etc) of the organization with result that all the activities precede according to the objective.

Budgets are means of communication. Ideas of the top management are given the practical shape. As the activities of various department heads are coordinated at the much needed for the very success of an organization. Budget is necessary to future to motivate the staff associated, to coordinate the activities of different departments and to control the performance of various persons operating at different levels.

Budgets may be divided into two basic classes. Capital and operating budgets. Capital budget are directed towards proposed expenditure for new projects and often require special financing. The operating budgets are directed towards achieving short-term operational goals of the organization for instance, production or profit goals in a business firm. Operating budgets may be sub-divided into various departmental or functional budgets.

This system helps in fixing the goals for the organization as a whole and concentrated efforts are made for its achievements. No system of planning can be successful without having an effective and efficient system of control. Budgeting is closely connected with control.

A system of budgetary control should not become rigid. There should be enough scope of flexibility to provide for individual initiative and drive. Budgetary control is an important device for making the organization more efficient on all fronts. It is an important tool for controlling costs and achieving the overall objectives.

Some advantages of budget and budgetary system are:

- a) It helps in maximization of profits of the enterprise by proper planning and coordination of different functions.
- b) The working of different departments and sectors is properly coordinated to achieve the target of the budget.
- c) The deviation in budgeted and actual performance will enable the determination of weak spots.
- d) The management will be able to take corrective measures whenever there is a discrepancy in performance.

Controlling your financial affairs requires a budget. For many people, the word "budget" has a negative connotation. Instead of thinking of a budget as financial handcuffs, think of it as a means to achieve financial success.

Whether you make thousands of naira a year or hundreds of thousands of naira a year, a budget is the first and most important step you can take towards putting your money to work for you instead of being controlled by it and forever falling short of your financial goals.

Budgeting and tracking your expenses gives you a strong sense of where your money goes and can help you reach your financial goals. Since financial matters are one of the leading causes of marital discord and divorce, getting a handle on your spending, implementing a budget, and saving for the future can also have positive effects on your relationship with your spouse or partner.

people. The term labour welfare proposes numerous thoughts, which means and implications, for example, the state wealth wellbeing satisfaction respectability and the advancement of HR as an aggregate least level of welfare that is an appealing condition of existing including physical mental good and passionate prosperity. Labour welfare infers to giving better work conditions, for example, honest to good lighting, warm control, cleanliness, low commotion level, toilet and drinking water offices, flask and restroom prosperity and safety efforts. Welfare administrations, for example, lodging, raining, amusement, transportation, and guiding.

A welfare state is a political system wherein the State assumes responsibility for the health, education, and welfare of society. The system of social security in a welfare state provides social services, such as universal medical care, unemployment insurance for workers, financial aid, free post-secondary education for students, subsidized public housing, and pensions (sickness, incapacity, old-age), etc.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

1.1 INTRODUCTION

At the time of independence the Indian economy was predominantly agricultural and the contribution of the agricultural sector was highest in the GDP. Slowly the agricultural contribution started decreasing and the contribution of the Industrial sector started increasing. The contribution of the service sector was almost insignificant. That time it was an assumption that service is just an augmentation of the physical product. In the 1980s, as the quality concern gained drive throughout the world; researchers like Berry and Christian Gronross began to realize that quality was a critical factor in the success of service marketing. As a result of this, the eminence in thinking shifted to the service quality. A successful marketer is one who observes the change, recognizes and exploits the opportunities that it has to offer in a changing marketing environment. Services are the growing sector of the Indian economy showing a subtle shift towards service dominance. Banking, Insurance, Treasury and Telephone facility, public conveyance, dry cleaning, radio transmission, hair cutting, tailoring, retailing etc are all services. We take these services. So we are consumers. A group of services together may form a service organization, like an educational institution, where service of libraries, cafeterias, counseling, placement, bookstore, photocopying, telephone and internet connection, and even a bank are all available. Such multiple service providers are called complex service organizations. A Comparative Study of the Customer Satisfaction in Public Banks and Private Banks with Special Reference to State Bank of India and HDFC Bank 37 Unlike we individuals, business and other organizations also depend on a wide array of service, usually purchasing on a much larger scale than us, we individual households. Unfortunately, customers are not always happy with the quality and value of the service they receive. People complain about late deliveries, inconvenient service hours, needlessly complicated procedures, long queues, and a host of other problems. Service providers face stiff competition. Many owners and managers complain about how difficult it is to make a profit, to find skilled and motivated employees, or to place customers. The service sector is going through a revolutionary change, which is dramatically affecting the way in which we live and work. New services are continually being launched to satisfy consumers' / customers' existing needs and to meet needs that we did not even know they had. Not even 10 years ago, people anticipated a personal need for e-mail, online banking, web hosting, and many other such services. Today, we feel we can't do without them. Similar transformation is occurring in business markets as well. Service organization is very wide in size. At one end of the scale are huge international corporations operating in such industries as airlines, banking, insurance, telecommunication, and hotels. At the other end of the scale is a vast array of locally owned and operated small businesses, including restaurant, laundries, optometrists, beauty parlors, and such numerous business to business services. Internal services are also spun out as separate services, which are outsourced and they become a part of the marketplace and are therefore more easily identifiable as a contributing component of the economy. A Comparative Study of the Customer Satisfaction in Public Banks and Private Banks with Special Reference to State Bank of India and HDFC Bank 38 The forces that shape service markets are government policies, social changes, business, advance in information technology, and internationalization. The implications of opening up the service economy are growing demand for many such services, there will be greater competition, and will stimulate innovation through the application of new and improved technologies. Customer needs and behavior also evolves in response to changing demographics and values, as well as new options. Singularly as well as in combination these developmental aspects will require managers of service organizations to focus more sharply on marketing strategy.

1.2 Journey of Indian Banking Industry:

The first bank of India, though conservative, was established in 1786. From then till today, the journey of the Indian banking system can be classified into three distinct phases.

Phase 1: Early phase from 1786 to 1969 of Indian banks.

Phase 2: Nationalization of Indian banks up to 1991 prior to the Indian banking sector reforms.

Shri Gajanan Maharaj Shikshan Prasarak Mandal's
Sharadchandra Pawar Arts and Commerce College
Dudulgaon, (Alandi) Pune-412105
(Affiliated to Savitribai Phule Pune University, Recognised by Govt. of Maharashtra)

Phase 3: New phase of Indian banking system with the advent of Indian Financial and Banking Sector Reform after 1991. Brief discussions of these phases are here under.

Phase I

The General Bank of India was set up in 1786. Next came the Bank of Hindustan and Bengal Bank. The East India Company established Bank of Bengal (1809), Bank of Bombay (1840) and Bank of Madras (1843) as A Comparative Study of the Customer Satisfaction in Public Banks and Private Banks with Special Reference to State Bank of India and HDFC Bank 43 independent units and called them President's Banks. These three banks were amalgamated in 1920 and named the Imperial Bank of India, which started as a private shareholder bank, and was established with mostly European shareholders. In 1865, the Allahabad Bank was established, and for the first time exclusively by Indians. Punjab National Bank Ltd was set up in 1894 with headquarters at Lahore. Between 1906 and 1913 Bank of India, Central Bank of India, Bank of Baroda, Canara Bank, Indian Bank, and Bank of Mysore were set up. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) was established in 1935. During the first phase, the growth was very slow and banks also experienced periodic failures between 1913 and 1948. There were approximately 1100 banks, mostly small. To streamline the functioning and activities of the banks, the Government of India came up with the Banking Companies Act, 1949 which was later changed to Banking Regulation Act, 1949. As per the Banking Regulation (Amendment) Act of 1965 (Act No. 23 of 1965), RBI was vested with extensive power for the supervision of banking in India and is the central Banking Authority. During those days, the public confidence in banks was somewhat low and, so, deposit mobilization was slow. Absent of it the savings bank facility provided by the postal department was comparatively safer. Moreover, funds were largely given to traders.

Phase II

The government took major steps in the Indian banking sector reforms after independence. In 1955, it nationalized the Imperial Bank of India by the State Bank of India Act with extensive banking facilities on a large scale, especially in rural and semi-urban areas as the first phase of nationalization. It formed the State Bank of India (SBI) to act as the principal agent of RBI and to handle banking transactions of the Union and the State Government of the country. A Comparative Study of the Customer Satisfaction in Public Banks and Private Banks with Special Reference to State Bank of India and HDFC Bank 44 In 1969, seven subsidiary banks of the State Banks of India were nationalized as a major process of nationalization due to the effort of the then Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi. Later in 1969, 14 major private commercial banks in the country were nationalized. The list of 14 banks nationalized in 1969 was

1. Central Bank of India
2. Bank of Maharashtra
3. Dena Bank
4. Punjab National Bank
5. Syndicate Bank
6. Canara Bank
7. Indian Bank
8. Indian Overseas Bank
9. Bank of Baroda
10. Union Bank
11. Allahabad Bank
12. United Bank
13. UCO Bank
14. Bank of India

The second phase of nationalization of Indian banks was carried out in 1980, with seven more banks. This step brought 80 per cent of the banking segment in India under government ownership. The Government of India has taken the following steps to regulate banking institutions in the country:

- 1949: Enactment of the Banking Regulation Act.
- 1955: Nationalization of State Bank of India.
- 1959: Nationalization of SBI subsidiaries.
- 1961: Insurance cover extended to deposits.
- 1969: Nationalization of 14 major banks.
- 1971: Creation of Credit Guarantee Corporation.
- 1975: Creation of regional rural banks.
- 1980: Nationalization of seven more banks with deposits over Rs200 crore.

After the nationalization of banks, the branches of the public sector banks in India rose to approximately 800 per cent in deposits, and advances took a huge jump by 11,000 per cent. Government ownership gave the public implicit faith and immense confidence in the sustainability of public sector banks.

Phase III

The third phase of development of Indian banking introduced many products and facilities in the banking sector as its reform measures. In 1991, under the chairmanship of M. Narasimhan, a committee was set up under his name, which worked for the liberalization of banking practices. Post the implementation of this committee's recommendations the country is flooded with foreign banks and their ATM stations. Efforts are being put in to give a satisfactory service to customers. Phone banking and net banking have been introduced. The entire system has become more convenient and swift. Today, time is given more importance than money. The financial system of India has shown a great deal of resilience. It is shielded from any crisis triggered by any external macroeconomic shocks as other East Asian countries suffered. This is all due to a flexible exchange rate regime, high foreign reserve, the
